

ASEE is Managing Competing Priorities

ASEE helps me maintain balance between research and teaching. Professors have the most impact when they take advantage of the symbiotic existence of teaching and research. Whether through networking at the conference or reading publications, ASEE reminds me of the importance of the educational component of this career and that there is an entire community of professors juggling the same challenges that I am. - Brock LaMeres

- PI on several grants on the student learning experience
- Recipient of the 2011 MSU President's Excellence in Teaching Award and the 2010 MSU College of Engineering Excellence in Teaching Award
- I have completed two marathons
