

Using Storybooks to Teach Children and Adults About Alzheimer's Disease

NEAFCS Endowment Grant Online Training

May 10, 2023

Please Explain Alzheimer's to Me Parent/Caregiver—Information for Readers

Title: Please Explain "Alzheimer's Disease" to Me. A children's story and Parent Handbook about Dementia

This book is free courtesy of: AARP Montana; Montana Geriatric Education Center, University of Montana; Country Bookshelf, Bozeman, MT; National Extension Association of Family and Consumer Sciences Endowment Fund

Author: Lauri Zelinger, PhD

Description: The book introduces Alzheimer's disease to children in a colorful, sensitive, and gentle story through the observations of Seth and Shepard about the changes occurring in their grandma. The author presents the situation of children in a warm, developmentally proper way using appealing theme of diversity, child friendly language, and familiar scenes to which they can relate. Also included are scripts parents can use when speaking to their child. Pages 29-43 provide a Parent/Caregiver Handbook with information about Alzheimer's disease a parent, childcare provider, or librarian could use to answer children's questions. Cost: $17.95 HAS page numbers.

- Content page for quick reference
- Page numbers (we discovered some storybooks lack page numbers)
- Introduction
- Parent/Caregiver handbook starting on p. 29
- Talking to your kids p. 29
- Facts and Figures p. 30
- The Progression of Alzheimer's Disease p. 31
- Medication p. 32
- Stages and Symptoms p. 32
- Trajectory p. 33
- Medical Support p. 33
- Caregivers p. 34
- Summary p. 35
- Tips for families with Loved Ones who have Alzheimer's p. 36
- Questions and Answers p. 39
- References p. 42
- Information resources p. 43
- Safe Return Resources p. 43
- About the Author p. 44